

Sawtooth Wildlands Education Team

Presents:

Leave No Trace!

Who: For Boy Scouts and leaders preparing a backcountry trip. Friends, family, and anyone interested are welcome!

What: A fun, interactive presentation by a Forest Service ranger or wildland educator. The seven principles of Leave No Trace will be discussed in detail.

When: Anytime before your trip! Programs can be given between March 15 and August 30, 2003.

Where: We may be able to travel to you! Often presentations in the spring can be held at your regular Boy Scout meeting. We are located in Sawtooth Valley, south of Stanley. If your trip is in the vicinity, we can meet you before you hit the trail.

Why: Because Leaving No Trace is the right way to camp! It leaves the area with the least amount of impact.

How: If you have questions or would like to schedule a program, call Liese Dean at the Stanley Ranger Station (208) 774-3017 or e-mail Sara Focht at wilderness_ed@hotmail.com.

Programs are FREE!
